November 3, 2026

At Allbridge, we are committed to helping property owners and operators navigate an increasingly complex technology landscape through innovative solutions, trusted expertise, and exceptional service.

Today, we are pleased to announce the acquisition of the hospitality assets of Single Digits across North America, including its hospitality customer contracts, the systems that support them and the talented team behind them.

With the acquisition, Allbridge becomes North America's largest dedicated property technology and managed services connectivity provider, serving approximately 10,000 properties and nearly two million guest rooms and residential units.

The acquisition strengthens Allbridge's leadership position as a connected technology and managed services partner for hospitality and high-density properties while creating additional scale and resources to support continued innovation, service excellence, and customer success.

"Today marks an exciting milestone for Allbridge and our customers," said Todd Johnstone, Chief Executive Officer of Allbridge. "We are bringing together two highly respected organizations with a shared commitment to innovation, customer service and technology excellence. We look forward to supporting Single Digits customers and providing them with access to Allbridge's extensive portfolio of technology solutions, engineering expertise and managed services capabilities."

"With decades of experience serving hospitality and high-density properties, both organizations have built strong reputations for delivering reliable connectivity, technology innovation, and exceptional customer experiences. Together, Allbridge and Single Digits will be even better positioned to help property owners and operators enhance guest experiences, improve operational efficiency, and maximize the value of their technology investments."

"This transaction creates additional scale and stability that will allow us to continue investing in innovation, service excellence, world-class talent and next-generation technologies, including AI-enabled solutions," continued Johnstone. "These investments will help customers operate more efficiently, improve profitability and deliver exceptional guest experiences."

"Building on more than 35 years of growth and innovation in property technology and managed services, Allbridge has made significant investments in its people, technology platforms, engineering expertise and customer support capabilities since 2021. The addition of Single Digits' hospitality customer contracts, systems and team further strengthens our ability to provide customers with the expertise, resources and long-term partnership they need as their technology needs continue to evolve and the technology environment becomes increasingly complex."

"Our focus remains unchanged: helping property owners and operators meet evolving guest expectations while operating their buildings more efficiently, more effectively and more profitably."

As integration efforts move forward, Allbridge remains focused on delivering a seamless experience for customers, employees, and partners while continuing to provide the high levels of service and support that both organizations are known for.
