

InSite Wireless Group Acquires Agile Networks

Investment provides InSite robust portfolio of public-private partnerships and new network infrastructure throughout the Midwest

Stamford, CT - August 8, 2019 - InSite Wireless Group, one of the country's largest private operators of wireless communications infrastructure, announced the acquisition of majority interest in Agile Networks, a leading provider of communications infrastructure solutions based in Canton, OH. Pursuant to the transaction, InSite, headquartered in Alexandria, VA, will become the single largest investor in Agile.

The acquisition provides InSite with a portfolio of public-private partnerships and a significant infrastructure network and assets spanning hundreds of locations throughout the Midwest. Agile will become an operating division of InSite.

"The investment in Agile helps to grow InSite's footprint of wireless tower infrastructure assets while adding a critical public telecommunications network platform," said David E. Weisman, Chief Executive Officer of InSite. "Agile is a natural addition to InSite's operations and delivers the resources and additional infrastructure to extend services to customers throughout our current and expanding footprint."

"This is an exciting period of growth for Agile and we could not have found a more fitting partner to continue delivering connectivity solutions and infrastructure to our diverse customers across the Midwest," commented Kyle Quillen, Chief Executive Officer of Agile Networks CEO. "Our team has worked extremely hard to build Agile and the infrastructure network to where we are today."

Bank Street Group LLC served as exclusive financial advisor, ICE Miller LLP served as legal counsel and 415 Group served as accountants to Agile Networks in connection with the InSite transaction.
